

2021 QUALIFYING FORMAT

The fastest two days on the NTT INDYCAR SERIES schedule are here - Crown Royal Armed Forces Qualifying weekend. Over two days, 35 drivers and teams will fight for one of the 33 positions in the starting field for the 105th Running of the Indianapolis 500 presented by Gainbridge.

SATURDAY, MAY 22

QUALIFICATION

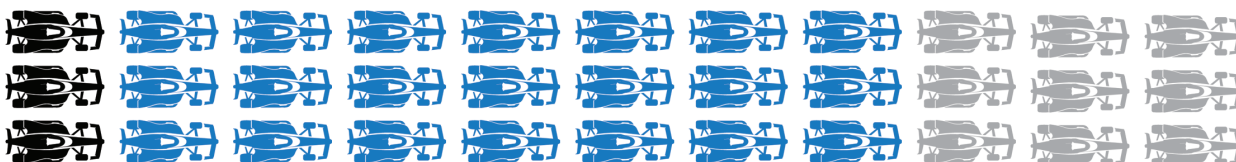

FULL-FIELD QUALIFYING

Positions 10-30 set. Will not re-qualify on Sunday.

12 - 6 PM ET

2 - 3 PM ET

3 - 6 PM ET

Thirty-five cars will attempt to qualify, with positions 1-30 locked in. Once every car in the qualifying order has been presented at least one chance to qualify, teams must choose from “fast” or “normal” lanes for second and subsequent attempts. Cars in the fast lane must withdraw their qualified time – if the car has one – but get priority access to the track ahead of the normal lane. The Fast Nine Shootout (final order of positions 1-9) and Last Chance Qualifying (positions 31-33) will be determined Sunday, May 23.

SUNDAY, MAY 23

LAST CHANCE QUALIFYING (1:15-2:30 PM)

POSITIONS 31-33 DETERMINED

Each entry is guaranteed one attempt and can make multiple attempts until time expires. Each car's time remains eligible until an additional attempt is made and time is withdrawn.

1 - 2:30 PM ET /

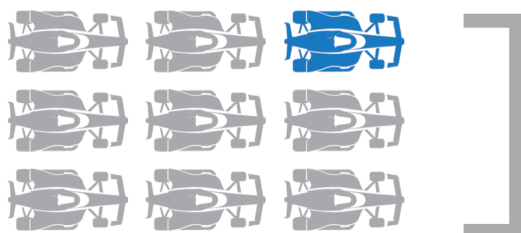

FAST NINE SHOOTOUT (3-3:45 PM)

POSITIONS 1-9 DETERMINED

Order based on Saturday times, slowest to fastest. Each entry is guaranteed one attempt.

2:30 - 4:30 PM ET /

4:30 - 7 PM ET (PRACTICE)

The fastest driver in the Fast Nine Shootout will earn the coveted NTT P1 Award for pole.
